

The OSRC team travels to the Nicosia Props & Gears airfield where the first official Cyprus revealing is made. Besides the enthusiastic questions about the control, many flyers join the OSRC club. Some compared the control to other existing models, others just couldn't get their hands off the control. Needless to say we had lots of fun and enjoyed the trip. We managed to change many disbelieves about the control and alter the myth into a fact for all those who were skeptic about the system.
